Jonathan Hal Reynolds , 2020 – 2021 Midway Distinguished Alumnus

Jonathan Hal Reynolds, Class of 1999, attended Midway ISD from Kindergarten through 12th Grade. During his Senior year, he was elected Mr. MHS, Class Favorite, Most Caring, and Prom King.

Beyond his years at Midway, he traveled the world as an international fashion model for clients such as Calvin Klein, Ralph Lauren, and Giorgio Armani. After exploring all Seven Continents on over 30 overseas expeditions, he and his wife founded the educational travel company Elite Expeditions, which is partnered with National Geographic Magazine. He writes children's novels for HarperCollins Publishing in New York City, and he currently lives in Salado, TX with his wife and kids. Jonathan is a 32-degree Freemason, an active member of the Harvard Masonic Lodge in Boston, and a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society in England. His Bachelor's degree is in Professional Writing from Baylor University, his Master's degree is in Literature and Writing from Harvard University, and he is currently working on his Ph.D. in English Literature, Film Studies, and Creative Writing at the University of Birmingham in the UK. He has mentored hundreds of kids and teenagers from the Midway community during the past two decades, and he dedicates this "Distinguished Alumni" honor to his parents, grandparents, his sister, and all his classmates and teachers from his years at Midway.

Congratulations to Mr. Reynolds from the Midway Alumni Network, a committee of the Midway ISD Education Foundation!
